

COREN Accreditation:

We'll Combine Professionalism with Academic Excellence

– Vice Chancellor

Bayero University, Kano is working very hard to attain professional competence in addition to its excellent academic records, its Vice Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed nni, MFR has said.

The Vice Chancellor, who received council for the Regulation of Engineering in Nigeria (COREN) accreditation visitation team in his office Monday, said Bayero University is very much conscious of the importance of professionalism and that was why it regarded COREN accreditation as more stringent and most important.

He said the University would give the team all the support and cooperation to enable it carry out a through exercise which he believed at the end would be highly beneficial to the University.

Professor Rasheed said Bayero University does not just introduce new courses for the fun of it saying that before any department is introduced, “we will have a strategic plan and work religiously towards achieving those goals. We will first of all have plans on ground for structures, facilities and most importantly personnel so that before the pioneer students reach level three all that was needed by both NUC and other professional bodies involve in regulating the disciplined are on ground.

He said the COREN team was in the University of forth night ago to look at some of its engineering course and expressed the hope that their return visit this time around to look at its courses on communication and electronic engineering would not be different as BUK would still cross the handle.

The Vice Chancellor further told the COREN team that “we in BUK are very serious and that is why it is not by magic that during NUC accreditation, we often score an A,” adding “if there is anything COREN wants us to do to improve professionalism, we will gladly to it. We will continue to be loyal, cooperate and abide by all the observations and recommendations of COREN,” he assured.

Earlier, the COREN team leader, Engineer Abubakar Nahuce had commended Bayero University for leaving up to expectation and called on other Universities in the country to emulate them.

He said COREN usually had problems with some Universities that introduced new engineering courses unprepared and that COREN was only notified by such Universities only when pioneer students were above level three. He gave as an example the case of University of Abuja Faculty of engineering.

Nahuce also said in addition to that 80 percent of students admitted into such Universities to pursue the newly introduced course do not have entry requirement, and that was who, he said COREN was always strict in order to ensure that the country produced competent engineers who will compete with their counterparts anywhere in the world.

WAUG: Unilorin 2012

VC Attributes Success to Discipline, Commitment

The Vice Chancellor of Bayero University, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed mini, MFR has described the success of the University's contingent to last year's West African University Games (WAUG) to dedication and commitment to the course for which the institution stood for.

Professor Rasheed was speaking when he received the contingent led by the Chairman of the University Sports Consultative Committee, Professor Muhammad Yakasai in his office last Monday.

He congratulated the contingent for a commendable performance and assured them of the continued supports of the University to sports and sport development.

The Vice Chancellor also advised the University's sports men and women to endeavour to combine successfully the high demand of academic and the rigours of sports activities so that at the end of their stay they would have a certificate that will be most useful to them not only in academics but also in sporting activities.

He said the University was proud of them including their coaches and hoped that they would continue to excel in future events.

Vice Chancellor, Prof. Rasheed mini, MFR, congratulates one of the medalists when he received them in his office.

The Vice Chancellor announced a 50 percent increase in the prize money for each athlete who won gold, silver or bronze medals.

Earlier, the University's Chairman of Sports Consultative Committee Professor Mohammed Yakasai who presented the contingent to the Vice Chancellor said they were able to win medals due to the support of the University management.

He said the University participated in some events during the 2012 WAUG hosted by the University of Ilorin and that BUK recorded.

Professor Yakasai said BUK won a total of 8 medals, one gold, four silver and three bronze, adding that Rebecca John a Physical and Health Education student won two medals a gold and silver in Judo while the rest medals were won by Muhammed Abdullahi, Sera Samuel, Yusuf Baba, Ebele and Agnes.

Induction of Physiotherapy Gradaunds:

VC Urges them to be Good Ambassadors of BUK

Vice Chancellor Bayero University, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed mni, MFR has charged newly inducted Physiotherapy graduands to be good ambassadors of not only the University also that of medical profession for which they were being inducted.

Cross section of Physiotherapy graduands being inducted

The Vice Chancellor who was represented by the Deputy Vice Chancellor Academics, Professor Yahuza Bello spoke at the 16th induction ceremony of the graduands of Physiotherapy at Musa Abdullahi auditorium on Wednesday.

He said Physiotherapy is a very serious profession which place on its paractitioners high elvel of discipline and commitment to stick to its ethics and oath of secrecy which was why he urged the graduands to be above board in the discharge of their chosen career.

Professor Rasheed stated that because of the importance the University attached to the field of Medicine, it has put machinery in motion in order to create centre of excellence in Medicine, saying that to approve the commitment of the University in that regard, the management has spent above 2 billion Naira for infrastructure development.

He disclosed that the council and the Senate have approved the establishment of College of health Services with 5 department saying in the next few months it will take-off.

The Vice Chancellor further revealed that work on the faculty that will house Physiotherapy at Aminu Kano Teaching Hospital was in advance stage of completion. He congratulated both the graduands and their parents for their perseverance throughout the period of the training.

Also speaking, Chairman of the occasion, Professor Aminu Zakari Mohammed who is also Chief Medical Doctor of AKTH congratulated the graduands and urge them to pay particular attention to the content of the oath they were taken.

He said they must at all times be guided by the oath they have taken, adding that “your patients are so precious; you must treat and handle them with a lot of compassion,” he counseled. Professor Zakari wished them God guidance in their undertakings.

In his address, the head of Department of Physiotherapy Dr. Rufa’i Zakari said the 2011/2012 Physiotherapy induction exercise was the 16th and commended the Bayero University management for ensuring that since it took the course, the induction exercise continued to be held annually.

He told the graduands that it was during this period of internship that each graduand would make a choice of area of specialization which was why he advised them to open their minds and make the best choice of area of specialty.

Dr. Rufa'i said at the moment six academic staff of the department are currently pursuing PhD programmes both at home and abroad and thanked the Vice Chancellor for pursuing a coordinated staff development initiative.

A total of 25 graduands were inducted by the Registrar of Medical Rehabilitation Therapist Board Dr. J. D. Jogunola who also said by their induction they are qualified to practice as Physiotherapist.

During the occasion, the Vice Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed min, MFR, was conferred with leadership award by Nigerian Society of Physiotherapy. Aisha Ahmed received the overall best award for graduating students.

Also Jibril Mohammed an academic staff of the department received an award along with his colleague Ibrahim Baba non academic staff.

Pioneer HODs for New Depts.

Profs. Bashir Sambo, Mukhtar A. Yusuf Head Foreign Languages, Linguistics

Contrary to the factually incorrect story in last week's 12th April, 2013 No. 15 edition of the Bulletin (page 3), the Vice Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mni, MFR approved the appointment of Professor Bashir Muhammad Sambo as Head of the new Department of Foreign Languages. The VC similarly approved the appointment of Professor Mukhtar A. Yusuf as head of the new Department of Linguistics.

In their separate letter of appointment signed by the Vice Chancellor, all the appointments are for a period of two years, with effect from 8th April, 2013.

The two new HODs are for the two new departments that emerged following the NUC approved split of two former Departments.

The new department of Foreign Languages was carved out from the Department of English and French, which after the split becomes the Department of English and Literary Studies, whose HOD is Dr. Sadiya Sani Daura. Similarly, the new Department of Linguistics was carved out of the former Department of Nigerian Languages and Linguistics, which after the split becomes the Department of Nigerian Languages, whose HOD is Dr. Yakubu Magaji Azare.

The Publications Division deeply regrets and apologies for the errors contained in the earlier story.

Nomenclature, Qualifications & Honours of the Vice Chancellor

It has come to the notice of the management that letter-heads used by some faculties, departments and units of the University carry different and incomplete qualifications and honours of the Vice Chancellor, a statement by the Registrar, Sani Ibrahim Amin, MNIM has said.

“It is in the light of the foregoing that I write to furnish you with the correct nomenclature, qualifications and honours of the Vice Chancellor which are reflected on the University letter-head as follows:

Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mni, MFR, B.A., M.A. (BUK); M.A. (Nottingham); PhD. (ABU).

Therefore, you are requested to ensure that corrections are effected accordingly,” the statement concluded.

Female Scholarship Awards Hit ₦27 Million

The Vice-Chancellor has approved scholarships to another set of 13 female academic staff members pursuing PhD studies in BUK and in other universities, a statement from the Chairman of the CDD, Prof. M. Y. Bello has confirmed. The value of this second set of awards is ₦11,0250,000, the statement added.

Earlier, scholarships to the first set of 19 female academics with total value of ₦16,350,000 was approved. This brings the total number of beneficiaries to 32 and the total value to ₦27,375,000. The female scholarship scheme being finance from the MacArthur Foundation grant to BUK, is aimed at supporting female scholars to complete their studies successfully, despite the unique challenges many of them face, compared to their male colleagues.
