

VOL XXXIII BULLETIN FRIDAY 19TH DECEMBER, 2014 No. 54

Nigerian Institute of Food Science and Technology Honours Prof. Hafiz

The Nigerian Institute of Food Science and Technology North West chapter on Sunday, 14th December, 2014 held a reception in honour of its chairman, Professor Hafiz Abubakar, MFR to share with him the joy of the recent conferment of a National Honour (MFR) on him and his election as Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academics), Bayero University, Kano.

Speaking on the occasion which took place at the Professor Rasheed Conference Room, Faculty of Science, Old Campus, the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mni, MFR said the University management was not surprised by both the conferment of the National Honour and the reception to honour Prof. Hafiz, saying 'I believe it is the result of dedication to duty, commitment to service, honesty of purpose and above all the fear of Allah in all his undertakings'.

He said the honour goes beyond Professor Hafiz, saying that it was an honour on BUK too. He thanked the institute for giving honour where it is due.

Professor Rasheed took time to explain some of the modest achievements the University recorded in the last four years, saying that such feat was achieved because of the support he received from other management staff, Professor Hafiz Abubakar inclusive.

He listed the establishment of the Centre for Dryland Agriculture, Centre for Biotechnology Research, Renewable Energy Centre, Centre for Qur'anic Studies and the establishment of College of Health Sciences, expansion of the Faculty of Medicine into four Faculties as some of the achievements.

The Vice-Chancellor who presented a plaque to the celebrant on behalf of the Institute was grateful to them for honouring one of their own and assured them that the honour would surely go a long way towards gingering Professor Hafiz into doing more for the community and the society at large.

Also speaking, Dean of the Faculty of Biomedical Science, Professor M. K. Atiku, said the recognition now being poured on Professor Hafiz should not surprise anyone, because according to him, those of them who worked closely with him knew that such a day of encomiums would definitely come, 'and here we are', he retorted.

He said Professor Hafiz was a man of vision whom we often looked up to as a role model, adding that during his tenure as Board member of TETFund, representing the North West, he attracted so much to the zone for academic development. 'The only word we can offer him is: may Allah continue to guide and elevate you'.

The Kano State Commissioner for Project Monitoring, Alhaji Garba Diso, who led the Vice-Chairman and other councilors as well as other prominent politicians from Gwale Local Government who came to rejoice with Professor Hafiz also had some kind words for the celebrant who they regarded as their leader politically.

Responding, Professor Hafiz thanked the Institute for the reception and took time to explain to the audience the secret behind the current successes recorded at the Bayero University, saying, ‘We in BUK are very fortunate to have a Vice-Chancellor who is dedicated, foresighted, honest, sincere, a team player and, above all, one who embarked on staff development programme that is all inclusive.’

He assured the institute and his colleagues that National Honour (MFR) and his election as Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academics) of BUK would only spur him into rededicating himself to the service of his community, the society and the nation in general.

Adoption of Indigenous Technology Remains the Only Panacea for Our Dev. - Engineers

Engineers have called on the Government to encourage the policy of requiring industries to adopt indigenous technology provided by institutions of higher learning, if the nation’s dream of industrialization is to be realised.

That was part of the resolutions contained in a communiqué issued at the end of a 2-day National Conference on Bridging the Gap between the Academia and Industry in Nigeria held at the Faculty of Engineering, BUK between 9th and 11th December, 2014.

The communiqué which was jointly signed by the Chairman of the Conference Local Organizing Committee, Professor M. H. Bichi, and Dr. S. S. Adamu, Chairman, Technical Committee identified the need to improve linkages between academia and industry through the establishment of industry-based internship programmes for engineering tutors, and also involve industry – based engineers to partake in lectures in some selected specialized courses in engineering curriculum.

It also recommended that Academic research and development in engineering should be need-driven and geared towards commercialization, adding that academics should encourage the use of e-learning facilities, such as e-learning platforms, virtual laboratories, etc, to enhance teaching and research.

The communiqué also spoke of the need for engineering lecturers to be trained in entrepreneurship so that they could contribute in the entrepreneurship training of students. It also suggested the urgent need to look into the problems which hinder the take off-of the supervised industrial training for students in engineering (SITSE) programme.

Finally, the conference observed the need to develop a National Award for Innovation in Engineering, to promote engineering excellence in both academia and industry.

NUC Accreditation: Team Applauds Faculty of Agriculture

The Accreditation Team to the Faculty of Agriculture has commended Bayero University, Kano for meeting the manpower and infrastructural standard in running the Faculty of Agriculture, saying that they were overwhelmed with what they saw during last week’s accreditation exercise.

The Team Leader, Professor J. A. Ayoade, who stated this shortly after the accreditation exercise, said by their assessment, the curriculum, administrative requirements, academic regulations, programmes, library, environmental sanitation, e-library facilities and all other facilities inspected in the faculty had met the NUC standard.

Professor Ayoade said the team was happy with the students/staff ratio and that the faculty was being managed by well qualified staff, saying that they were impressed with the manpower development; theaters, classes, laboratories and that about 50 percent of the academic staff are PhD holders, with many of the remaining ones undergoing their PhD programmes.

The team leader commended the management for allocating adequate funds to the faculty, saying however because of the magnitude of needs on consumable items and other expenses in the faculty, there was need for improved funding.

He also advised the management to provide more green houses, increase livestock population and crop types, as well as a museum as these would expose the students to so many agricultural advantages.

The Deputy Vice Chancellor Academics, Professor Hafiz Abubakar, who stood in for the Vice Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed while receiving them in his office, shortly after the team members completed their assignment, said the management would adhere to the advices given by the NUC accreditation team, stating also that it would execute more projects in the faculty, especially because of the establishment of the Centre for Dryland Agriculture. He thanked the team for giving an honest assessment of the faculty.

Why BUK is Producing Varsity Vice-Chancellors - Prof. Rasheed

For being in the forefront of producing Vice-Chancellors of Nigerian Universities, Bayero University is gradually becoming a pacesetter citadel of learning in the country. This was disclosed by the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, nni, MFR.

Speaking at the formal presentation of a Book titled, 'Islam: The Spark of Global Civilization' (How Islam Spearheaded the Evolution of Modern Civilization) co-authored by five academic staff of BUK, Professor Rasheed said the leading role BUK is assuming might not be unconnected with the quality of staff development and academic training being given by the University. He assured that such academic exploits would be sustained.

The Vice-Chancellor stated that teaching, research and knowledge dissemination are what universities do, saying that the book presented is a compendium of knowledge dissemination which was why 'we in BUK will continue to support and encourage academic staff to write not just books but quality books that seek to disseminate knowledge to both students and the larger society.'

He commended the authors of the book for taking the pains to conduct research and write a book on the role of Islam in the evolution of modern civilization and hoped that the book would be of immense benefit to humanity.

Professor Rasheed said as part of the University's efforts to encourage dialogue and religious harmony, a Centre for Islamic Civilization and Interfaith would be constructed next year all aimed at entrenching peace through religious dialogue among the major religions in the country.

Presenting the book to the public, the Deputy Governor of Kano State, Dr. Abdullahi Umar Ganduje, represented by Commissioner for Budget and Planning, Surveyor Nadu Yahaya, commended the authors for writing a well researched book that would enrich the knowledge of humanity on Islam's leading role in the evolution of modern civilization.

Dr. Ganduje challenged academics to always come up with books of such nature as part of their callings, as repositories and disseminators of knowledge.

He launched the book with a personal donation of 100,000 naira and promised to convey to the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, the Deputy Governor's donation.

Also speaking, the chairman of the occasion, former Vice-Chancellor of BUK, Professor Ibrahim Umar, said the book would surely serve as a resource material to students of Islamic history and civilization.

He also said those who did not know the relationship between Science and Islam would find the book useful for it would educate them in that area.

The co-authors of the book are Professor Oumar Al-Moubarak Adoum, Dr. L. D. Fagwalawa, Malam Abdullahi Yahaya and Malam Yakubu Bello Tyav while Professor Aliyu Dauda of Education edited the work.

BUK Alumni to Build 250 Capacity Lecture Theatre

Bayero University Chapter of Alumni Association has pledged to build an Alumni Centre and a 250 Capacity Theatre as part of efforts to complement the good work of the University management.

National President of the Association, Alhaji Muhammad Dattijo Usman made the disclosure during a courtesy call on the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mini, MFR on Thursday, 11th December, 2014 at the conference room of the Physical Planning Unit.

He said no responsible Alumni would fold its arms and watch the tremendous development going on in its Alma Mater without complementing such good works, adding that ‘we in the alumni will continue to support, assist and even encourage BUK management in its determined efforts to turn the University into a world class citadel of learning that will be the envy of its contemporaries.’

‘We are very happy with the level of development going on in the University both in terms of infrastructure and academics and thank the Vice-Chancellor for the feat.’

Alhaji Dattijo stated that as part of efforts to raise money for the construction of the Alumni Centre, ‘We are planning to hold a Fund Raising Dinner at a date to be decided after the 2015 general elections, where not only alumni of BUK, but also friends of the University can donate generously for the all important projects.’

He also told the Vice-Chancellor that the association had been fully registered with the Corporate Affairs Commission, had a functional Website and had also succeeded in establishing four chapters – Federal Capital Territory, Niger, Katsina and Kebbi states, assuring that before the middle of next year the chapters would be raised to 10, God willing.

Responding, the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, thanked the leadership of the Alumni for taking the pains to visit BUK not only for the purpose of holding their meeting, but also to see what the management was doing to reposition the University.

Professor Rasheed took time to explain to them some of the modest achievements recorded in the last three years, including the establishment of some new academic centres like Dryland Agriculture, Qur’anic Studies, Biotechnology, Renewable Energy research as well as the introduction of about twenty one part-time degree programmes including Nursing.

He said the Centre for Qur’anic Studies was aimed at, apart from conducting research in Qur’anic studies, integrating Qur’anic memorizers and other Ulamas into the nation’s scheme of things through taking courses both in Qur’anic science, Arabic, English and at the end of the training courses certificates would be issued to them. ‘That way the issue of Almajiri syndrome will be reduced if not totally redressed.’

The Vice-Chancellor thanked the alumni leadership for its concern over the progress of the University, assuring that ‘we in the management will continue to do our best to reposition the University and make it in tune with international standard.’

Staff Games to be Restructured – Sports Directorate

The Sports Directorate has expressed its unwavering determination to restructure staff games in order to broaden staff interests and encourage participation in various sporting activities by staff of the University.

The new Sports Director, Malam Tijjani Ahmed Salisu Sa’id, disclosed this last week during a novelty match organized by staff football team between senior and junior staff to congratulate him and Dr. M. Y. Waziri, who were appointed Sports Director and Deputy Sports Director, respectively by the Vice Chancellor.

The Sports Director unveiled his Directorate’s plan to reinvigorate sporting activities among staff and students and design a comprehensive blueprint that would engage them to compete in various categories of games.

“An office will be created to take care of activities of staff sports,” he added.

Former WAUG President, Professor Lasun Emiola, who was also at the venue, advocated the need for the Sports Directorate to appoint team managers in each game and they should be selected among the staff, whose skills and competence in managing games are unquestionable.

He particularly expressed appreciation over the way and manner staff football team used to organize such novelty matches.

Also speaking, Professor Oyerinde, of the Department of Physical and Health Education, said participation in sports expands mental capacity, strengthens social relationship and improves health condition. He urged all staff to engage themselves in a particular game of interest so that excessive work stress would be reduced.

The match ended 2-0 in favour of junior staff with goals from Murtala Ibrahim of Publications and Documentation Division and Malam Ubale of the Security Division.

The match was played in such a way that SSANU, ASUU and NAAT formed senior staff category while all NASU players remained in junior staff team.

Similarly, BUK community players defeated BUK staff 3 – 1 on Friday last week in another friendly match to congratulate the duo on their appointments.

Quality of Leaders in 2015 Elections May Determine Nigeria’s Unity – Malam Rogo

Nigerians have been advised to elect credible leaders that will reposition the country as strong and viable entity and resist any attempt to be used to rig election at all levels, Malam Idris Salisu Rogo, of the Institute of Continuing Education, has suggested.

Speaking at the Faculty of Education Muslim Students Association (FEMSA) lecture series held on Tuesday, 16th December, 2014 at the New Hall, B.UK, titled: Good Governance and Social Re-orientation: The Panacea to Insurgency and Terrorism in Nigeria, Malam Rogo explained that “quality of leaders we elect in 2015 is very crucial to the unity and stability of the country.”

While speaking on the insurgency bedeviling the country, the Guest Speaker said government could address the menace by empowering the youth through initiating programmes and projects that would discourage their financial dependency rather than being allowed to be used as thugs by selfish and unpatriotic people.

The democratic system and transformation of the socio-economic conditions of Nigerians, he said, must be based on social justice, transparency, accountability and the rule of law regardless of tribal, ethnic and religious affiliations.

Malam Rogo added that the World Bank's project on Nigerian Universities under the guise of Nigeria University System Innovation Project (NUSIP) whose objectives include government's withdrawal of funding universities, shifting financial responsibilities to students was disastrous to tertiary education. He said quality of education at all levels remained sacrosanct to the unity, security and development of Nigeria.

Department of Infor. Tech. Gets HOD

The Vice Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mni, MFR has approved the appointment of Dr. Abdulwahab Lawan as Head of Department of Information Technology for two years with effect from 15th December, 2014.

A letter dated 11th December, 2014 called on the HOD to "give sound academic and administrative leadership to the department."
