

23rd Inaugural Lecture:

How Telecommunication Sector Contributes N1.452 Trillions to our GDP in the First Quarter - Prof. U. G. Danbatta By: Nura Garba

The Executive Vice Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nigerian Communication Commission (NCC), Professor Umar Garba Danbatta, has stressed the distinctive role played by the NCC not only to itself but also to other sectors of the economy in the country's march towards diversifying its economy and reducing over reliance on oil and gas.

Professor Danbatta, who presented the 23rd Inaugural Professorial Lecture on Thursday, 2nd November, 2017 at the Mahmud Tukur Theatre, Old Campus titled: Getting Out of the Woods: Diversifying Nigeria's Economy through the Telecommunications Sector, disclosed that, in a bid to address the structural imbalance of monolithic economic dependency in Nigeria, efforts had been made to develop the non-oil sectors of the economy by initiating various supportive policies and incentives aimed at encouraging economic diversification with different degrees.

Professor Danbatta explained that the current administration of NCC had attained some major milestones in its mandate of developing the industry through putting in place various strategies. Under his stewardship, NCC developed Strategic Vision Plan (SVP) for the fiscal years 2015 to 2020. He said the SVP provides a comprehensive roadmap for promoting innovation, investment, competition and consumer empowerment, as well as improved the Quality of Services (QoS) within the telecommunications industry.

According to him, to develop the SVP, the focus was on an 8-Point Agenda that was aimed at ensuring a reflection of the overall strategy of the commission. He said the 8 agenda was to facilitate broadband penetration; improve QoS; optimize usage and benefits of spectrum; promote ICT innovation and investment opportunities; facilitate strategic collaboration and partnership; protect and empower consumers; promote fair competition and inclusive growth and ensure regulatory excellence and operational efficiency.

Professor Danbatta said within the pace of two years of after the implementation of the SVP, the telecommunication sector had played a greater role in Nigeria's economic diversification. Prominent ones amongst them include: contributions to the education, health, financial services and transportation sectors of the economy.

He said quantitative result showed that active mobile-broadband penetration had increased within the pace of one year from less than 10% in 2015 to 20.95% in 2016 and internet penetration reached a milestone of 47.44% and the contribution of the telecommunication sector in the first quarter of 2017 is N1.452 trillions to the GDP i.e. 9.16%. This, he said, was an increase of 0.2% compared to the First Quarter of 2016, indicating stable growth in the telecoms sector.

Prof. U. G. Danbatta delivering his Professorial Inaugural lecture

Earlier, the Vice Chancellor, Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello, said the lecture was unique because Professor Dambatta was the first academic to deliver the inaugural lecture from the Faculty of Engineering. The inaugural lecture witnessed a large turn-out of the members of the university community, including the immediate past INEC Chairman, Professor Attahiru Jega, and the Vice Chancellor of Kogi State University, Professor M.S Abdulkadir.

No Development Without Savings ...Says Professor Karwai

By: Lamara Garba

A University Don from Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, Professor Abdullahi Sulaiman Karwai, has said that any society yearning for prosperous economic stability and growth with guaranteed social security must encourage its citizens to adopt the culture of saving.

Delivering a paper titled, “Mobilizing Savings for Development: The Role of Islamic Cooperative Societies” during a public lecture to celebrate the World Savings Day, jointly organized by the International Institute of Islamic Banking and Finance and the Samaha Islamic Cooperative Society, on Tuesday, 31st

Professor Binta Tijjani Jibril

October, 2017 at Mahmud Tukur Theatre, Old Campus, Karwai noted that economic development depends on investment whereas investment could happen without savings.

According to him, for Nigeria to join the league of developed nations, “we must shift our paradigm from a society that saves for consumption purposes to that system in which we save for development,” stressing that saving schemes are important instruments of empowering people.

Abdullahi Karwai, who is a Professor of Business Administration, disclosed that in terms of job creation, for example, Cooperative Societies accounted for hundreds of millions across the world with a turnover of over 1 trillion US Dollars. He said this figure has, by far, out-numbered the ones employed by global multinational corporations, thereby, playing a great role in this respect.

Earlier, in her welcome address, the Director of the International Institute of Islamic Banking and Finance (IIIBF), Professor Binta Tijjani Jibril, said the lecture was organized as part of the programmes aimed at re-awakening the consciousness of the people on the importance of savings in our national growth.

She disclosed that, for the past 90 years, the world had been celebrating this day, but here in Nigeria, it was newly introduced, pointing out that it was aimed at inculcating the culture of savings amongst the populace. She promised to sustain the yearly activities so as to sensitize the Nigerian populace on savings for development.

Another Guest Speaker, an industrialist, Alhaji Sa'idu Dattijo Adhama, complained about poor communal activity among the people of Nigeria nowadays. He said the people of yester-years were by far better than the present generation in terms of co-operative and communal activities.

He traced the idea of Cooperative Society to the era of Prophet Muhammad (SAW), but regrettably said 'we become more individualistic and too self-centred, which he has been the bane of our growth and economic buoyancy'.

The 1993 Presidential candidate on the platform of National Republican Convention (NRC), Alhaji Bashir Othman Tofa, who chaired the occasion, told the gathering that the North was lagging behind due to its poor culture of savings and investment. This, sadly, edged the region out in the scheme of things, especially in the area of modern banking and other financial systems.

New Students Hostel to be Completed Before the Year Ends - Vice Chancellor

By: Abubakar Yusuf

Vice Chancellor Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello said the new students' hostel building sponsored by the renown Islamic cleric and business tycoon, Sheik (Dr) Isiyaka Rabi'u, Khadimul Qur'an, at the Old Campus of the University would be completed before the year ended.

Professor Bello disclosed this in a Pyramid Radio phone in programme called “Ranar wanka” on Tuesday 31st October, 2017.

He said recently the University had got an additional female students hostel at Aminu Kano Teaching Hospital, which was named after Madam Stalla Adadeboh, who contributed in preventing millions of Nigerians from being infected with ebola. Another female hostel for postgraduate students, according to him, was also built in the Old Campus of the University which was named after Amina Namadi Sambo, the wife of the former Vice President of Nigeria.

He said two new hostels were found in the new campus of the University. "With all this increment, the University cannot accommodate half of its students in the campus," Professor Bello added.

On the welfare of Students, the Vice Chancellor said very soon the University would provide enough beds and mattresses in all hostels of the University. This, according to him, had been started in the four new hostels that were recently completed where each hostel was provided with beds and mattresses.

He said very soon the university would convert two classrooms that are close to a hostel into a reading room and provide solar energy in it in case of power failure, so that students would use it if the main library was closed.

On the issue of the 2017/2018 admission exercise, the Vice Chancellor said over seventy thousand candidates choose Bayero University as their first choice for both UTME and direct entry. But only nine thousand students, according to him, would get admission. He said the University would be fair to every candidate.

Some of the people that called during the programme urged the University to do everything humanly possible to see that they increase the number of candidates admitted every year, most especially those that came from Kano and Jigawa States. They also congratulated the Vice Chancellor for the success recorded in the University during the past two years of his administration.

BUK Staff Excels at International Academy of Perenatal Medicine Competition By: Bala G. Abdullahi

Dr. Fatima Usman of the Department of Pediatrics, Bayero University, Kano, has won the 2nd best price in the Young Scientist Group of the International Academy of Perenatal Medicine Competition, which took place at the just concluded World Congress of Perenatal Medicine (WCPM), in Serbia, Belgrade.

This was disclosed by Dr. Aliyu Labaran Dayyabu, the President of African Perenatal Society (APS).

He told the Vice Chancellor, Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello, during a courtesy call on Friday, 3rd November, 2017 that a delegation of five academic Medical Doctors led by him had attended the 13th World Congress of Prenatal Medicine (WCPM), which took place from 26th to 29th October, 2017 at Serbia, Belgrade.

Dr. Aliyu, who is from the Department of O&G and also the Deputy Secretary of the World Association of Perenatal Medicine (WAPM), stated that, during the congress, the International Academy of Perenatal Medicine held a Young Scientist Group Competition during which Dr. Fatima's presentation won the second best prize.

He said the association's primary objectives were to improve and sustain the health of children and womenfolk.

He thanked the Vice Chancellor for all the support and assistance he had been extending to the association, adding that the 14th Congress of the Association would take place in Istanbul, Turkey.

Responding, the Vice Chancellor, Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello, congratulated the BUK delegates to the Congress particularly, Dr. Fatima Usman, who did the University proud by emerging 2nd best at the Young Scientist Competition.

He assured that the University would continue to support academic staff who were members of the World Association of Prenatal Medicine as part of the University's efforts to encourage the attainment of academic excellence.

BUK Alumni Secretary Turbaned as Village Head

The Emir of Kano Muhammadu Sanusi II has turbaned the General Secretary of Bayero University Alumni, Alhaji Rilwan Bello Ahmad, as the Sarkin Fulani and Village Head of Durbunde in Takai Local Government.

In his speech during the turbaning in his Palace on Monday, 6th November, 2017, the Emir, while congratulating the new village head, urged him to work hard for the development of his people, Kano state and the country at large.

In his response Alhaji Rilwan Bello, Sarkin Fulani, thanked the Emir and the district head of Takai together with the people of Durbunde for making his dream a reality. He promised that he would do everything humanly possible to ensure that he does not let them down.

Town Hall Meeting Resolves:

Kano State House of Assembly Should Approve 18 out of 21 Proposed Constitutional Amendment Bills

A Town Hall meeting convened at the Aminu Kano Centre for Democratic Research and Training, Mambayya House, Kano, has rejected three proposed constitutional amendment bills and recommended 18 others to the Kano State House of Assembly for endorsement. Legal immunity for Legislators, a change of name for the police and the separation of the office of Accountant General of the Federation from that of the Federal Government were the three rejected.

This was the outcome of a one-day interaction on Saturday, 28th October, 2017, at Sa'adu Zungur Auditorium, co-sponsored by Mambayya House in collaboration with Partnership to Engage, Reform and Learn (PERL) a DFID funded Public Sector Accountability and Governance Program and the National Endowment for Democracy (NED) supported Organization for Community Civic Engagement (OCCEN). It brought together 105 Civil Society Organizations from all the parts of the state. The meeting was chaired by Prof. Haruna Wakili, the Director of Mambayya House and Convener. The attendance cut across all classes, including the media, women, traditional rulers, religious leaders and other relevant stakeholders.

The meeting was briefed by two academics. About 21 out of 33 amendment bills in respect of the 1999 Constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria were debated and adopted by the National Assembly. They were also soon to be presented to State Houses of Assembly for adoption. A political scientist, Prof. Kamilu Sani Fagge, and a legal practitioner, Barrister Audu Bulama Bukarti, both from Bayero University, Kano explained the political implication and legal aspects of the proposed amendments, which provoked well-informed comments and contributions from the participants.
